

The Onondaga County District Attorney's Office and The Central New York
Association Chiefs of Police
Interview & Interrogation for Patrol Officers and Investigators
April 3-4, 2012
Ramada Inn Syracuse, New York

Course Description:

This course will train the students to think, act and respond differently during the engagement process not only relating to enforcement activities but during the investigative process. They will learn that what they do at the beginning, affects the "end result" and that each stage is as important as the next, for accomplishment of their objectives. From the traffic stop to the "back room" setting, the dynamics taught in this program will lead to a higher rate of success and improve their skills in the art and science of this discipline.

Topic areas to be covered;

Understanding the role of the Interrogator, Language usage of deceptive individuals, Listening skills, Interpretation of Non-verbal behavior, The questioning process, Mind set of deceptive individuals, Behavioral indicators relating to Officer safety during traffic/ street side stops, Roadside & pristine interview settings, Tactics for successful disclosure development, Legal issues regarding custody & Miranda, Courtroom awareness regarding statement testimony and much more.
